

Two arrested for robbery after chase and shootout

BY TRACI BONNEY
Events leading to the arrests of two Bay St. Louis residents Tuesday may have looked like something out of gangster history—say, Bonnie and Clyde—but they were real.

Officer James Varnell of the Waveland Police Department reported that Timothy Glen Frye, 18, and Shelly Delaune, 24, both of 535 St. John Street, were arrested early Tuesday morning following a high speed chase and shootout from Wave land to Bay St. Louis.

Frye was charged with one count of armed robbery and two counts of aggravated assault, while Delaune was charged with one count of armed robbery. Varnell said Frye is incarcerated in the Hancock County jail under $30,000 bond, while Delaune is incarcerated under $25,000 bond.

He said both suspects also have felony warrants against them in St. Tammany Parish for armed robbery, Frye for grand larceny connected with the truck they were driving in the Mississippi incident, and Delaune for possession of stolen property and in Jefferson Parish on unspecified charges.

According to Varnell's report, the two suspects parked on the west side of Sears Avenue around 12:30 a.m. Tuesday, and Frye entered the Majik Market while Delaune stayed in the truck. Frye got a six-pack of beer from the back of the store and took it to the cash register.

When the clerk asked for identification, Varnell said, Frye pulled out a small-caliber service revolver and demanded the money in the register be given to him. The clerk complied, giving Frye an undisclosed amount of cash.

As Frye was leaving, a wit-

CH/LFPD commissioners, Bayou Caddy Casino partner discuss fire protection for dockside gambling facility

BY TRACI BONNEY
The partners of Bayou Caddy Casino and the commissioners of the Clermont Harbor/Lakeshore Fire Protection District have a common interest: the proper protection of dockside gambling ships against fire damage or loss.

The CH/LFPD board of commissioners met Wednesday with Alvin Bishop, vice president and marketing director for Bayou Caddy Casino Inc. During the two-hour meeting, Bishop gave the board an overview of the plans for a floating casino at Bayou Cadet, answered questions and listened to the commissioners' concerns.

Bayou Caddy Casino has a long-term lease for 2.8 acres of land which is being cleared for construction. In addition, the company has an option on 22 acres, much of which is wetlands. Some of the non-wetlands portion is earmarked for parking space.

He said the company is looking at a number of ships at this time. When they buy one, it will be U.S.-flagged, at least 175 feet long and have a minimum draft of six feet. He added that the company wants a boat with a 500-800 person capacity.

Bishop, who has maintained in the past that riverboat and cruise ship gambling in Louisiana will not have a large effect on Hancock County operations, reiterated that opinion to the commissioners.

"You go out (on a riverboat), spend your pocketful of quarters, and have four hours left on your cruise. What are you going

Hancock School Board prepares for first day

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

The Hancock County School Board listened to an update on various projects Monday evening as the countdown continued toward the first day of class.

"The Gulfview (Elementary School) parking lot received its second coat of asphalt today," assistant superintendent Eddie Danzey reported.

"Hopefully tomorrow they will complete the project, except for the striping, which will be done within 60 days."

"The (new) windows at Hancock North Central (Elementary School) are to be completed by Saturday."

"The cabinets at the high school are almost complete. We still have some problems in the laboratories. Little things like gas fixtures that need to be tightened. They don't leak. We just want them tighter so a student can't move them around."

Danzey continued with his list of "dos" the district has been trying to complete prior to the reopening of the five-district facilities.

The board members listened as Danzey gave a glowing report on teacher reactions to the various sprucing up projects activated during their three-month absences.

County parents voice school transportation complaints

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

The Hancock County School Board listened Monday to a half-dozen mothers voicing concerns over how students would be transported to and from school next week.

One mother, stating she lived in a northern most part of the county, questioned the length of time her child was required to ride the bus.

"Last year," she said, "it took over two hours" between the time school let out and her child reached home. Assistant superintendent Eddie Danzey, who was transportation director prior to Dona'l Hillman's appointment to the position this year, answered that "we are trying to prevent that from happening this year."

Danzey explained that some ness entered the store. The clerk told the witness that the store had just been robbed.

Just then, three off-duty Waveland police officers pulled into the parking lot in two personal vehicles. The witness recognized one of the vehicles as belonging to Officer Brett Ladner and informed him of what had occurred.

Ladner told Patrolman Thomas Antoine, in the other vehicle, to call the station and advise them of the situation. Ladner and Officer Kevin McIntosh left in pursuit of the suspects.

Varnell said the officers pursued the suspects to the beach, then to Vacation Lane, where Frye fired three rounds at the officers. From Vacation

Lane, the suspects turned onto Central Avenue, then from there to St. Joseph, over the railroad tracks, and on to Old Spanish Trail, where Frye fired more shots.

At Old Spanish Trail, they turned toward Bay St. Louis and Frye fired again at the officers.

At this point, Bay St. Louis Police Officer Shane Corr had located the suspects and joined the chase, passing the Waveland officers and pursuing the suspects. Officer Jerry Beaugez also joined the pursuit.

From Old Spanish Trail, the suspects took Dunbar onto Hwy. 90, where they turned east. Corr, Beaugez and Ladner continued the pursuit.

In front of the Notre Dame de la Mer apartment complex, Delaune braked the suspects' vehicle and Corr struck it from the rear. Delaune steered the vehicle over the median, across the westbound lane of Hwy. 90, through the ravine and onto the service road paralleling Hwy. 90, where she turned left.

Officers set up a rolling road block and forced the suspects' vehicle back off the road. Frye left the vehicle and fled into the woods.

Corr released canine officer Champ to pursue Frye, and followed on foot, along with Hancock County Auxiliary Deputy Nathan "Corky" Hoda. Meanwhile, Ladner removed Delaune from the suspects' vehicle and handcuffed her.

When Corr and Hoda found Frye, he was lying still on the ground with Champ sitting over him, guarding him. Corr called Champ off and Hoda handcuffed Frye.

Varnell said Frye was taken to Hancock Medical Center to be examined because of scratches received from briars during his flight into the wood. He was treated and released, then transported to the county jail.

After the arrests, while checking for prior arrests or outstanding warrants, the Waveland Police Department learned that Frye and Delaune were wanted in Hickory, La., for the armed robbery Monday night around 9:30 of a self-service gas station and the theft of a truck.

Rear Adm. Chubb to assume command

Rear Admiral James E. Koehr, United States Navy, Commander, Naval Oceanography Command, will relinquish command to Rear Admiral John E. Chubb, United States Navy, and retire after nearly 32 years of naval service on Aug. 16.

Koehr assumed leadership of the Command as a captain in 1984. In December 1987 then-Secretary of the Navy James H. Webb decided to place a flag officer in the post. Koehr's selection for promotion to the rank of rear admiral was announced on April 1, 1988, and he was promoted to his present rank on July 3 of that year. He is the only U.S. Navy flag officer to head an operational command in the state of Mississippi.

Chubb comes to SSC from the Defense Mapping Agency Hydrographic/Topographic

Center in Washington, D.C., where he served as director. He was selected for promotion to flag rank on Jan. 3, 1991.

The Naval Oceanography Command Headquarters is one of three U.S. Navy activities presently located at SSC. Components of what was to become the Command moved to the site in 1976, and the Command was officially created in 1978.

Today, it comprises nearly 3,000 officer, enlisted and civilian personnel located at some 60 locations worldwide. Its mission is to provide oceanographic, meteorological and mapping, charting and geodetic services to operating naval forces. The command's largest subordinate activity, the Naval Oceanographic Office, is also located at SSC.

to do? You can't leave the ship, unless you swim for it.

"Here we have 24-hour-a-day operations in docked boats. You can come and go as you please."

Addressing the matter of fire protection, Bishop told the commissioners that Bayou Caddy Inc. plans to have the highest technology available onboard the boat and in the landbased buildings.

"We expect to be able to call upon you, and to pay you, to train some of our people so we can begin to get a fire under control while we wait for you to arrive," he commented.

Bishop assured the commissioners that Bayou Caddy Inc. plans to hire locally first whenever possible, both with the contractors and the permanent employees.

"We are part of this community; we plan to live here, be citizens here, work here, vote here and pay taxes here."

He said the company supports the county's effort to have passed a local and private bill levying a $2.50/person boarding fee and $100/machine gaming tax, and supports the fire district's wish to have some of that revenue be earmarked for fire protection.

However, he emphasized that he and his two partners, George Baxter and John Kingsbury, will not become involved in local politics on the gambling issue or any other issue.

"We don't believe gambling has any place in politics and we intend to stay out of it."

Commission chairperson Ina Usher asked if the casino will have a first aid station. Bishop said there will be a station at the facility, if not on the boat then on land.

Peter Lestelle brought up several concerns shared by the commissioners. He told Bishop the Clermont Harbor Volunteer Fire Department has adequate equipment to fight any kind of fire that could occur in the community at this time, but not the equipment to fight a fire onboard a large ship.

Lestelle said the department would need an annual budget of about 40 times their current one in order to have the equipment and pay for the operating expenses that will be incurred in the protection of dockside casinos.

He also stressed that the department does not want any large donations from Bayou Caddy Inc. or any other casino company. "If you give us a large amount of money, then it's like you own us. If we try to talk to you about a fire hazard or some other problem you're having, you might start saying, 'I'm paying for all this. What do you think you're doing, telling me what I can and can't do?'"

However, Lestelle assured Bishop that the department will do its best to provide the company's facility with adequate fire service.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

The celebration for those returning from Operation Desert Storm, sponsored by the county's veterans organizations, businesses, governmental bodies and individuals was a tremendous success.

It was so good to see the support our men and women who participated in Operation Desert Storm received from Hancock County's residents.

I am sure the military will always remember how Hancock Countians stuck behind them.

Wars and rumors of wars have been with man since civilization began and will probably be with humans until the end of time.

One never knows when our men and women will be called to protect the freedoms that we as Americans have.

In order to be a free country we have to have our military ready at a moment's notice.

Hancock County's 1355th, and others who served during the past year, know that we as Americans appreciate everything they have done, and we are very proud of them.

Those interested in learning some additional educational skills need to remember the Hancock County School District's Vo-Tech Center located next to the Stennis Airpark.

Registrations will take place next Tuesday and Wednesday from 8 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. and on Thursday from 8 a.m. until 7 p.m.

Business office courses will include accounting I, beginning typewriting, intermediate typewriting, advanced typewriting and word processing.

Trade and industrial courses will include air conditioning and refrigeration, auto mechanics, carpentry/cabinet making, drafting, electricity, machine shop and welding.

Classes that receive the 10 or more students necessary will begin the week of August 26 and continue for 17 weeks with students meeting one or two nights a week.

The Vo-Tech is a very important educational facility for Hancock Countians, and I am hoping there will be a good response to the classes offered this fall.

Persons seeking further information may call 467-3568.

While on the subject of schooling, it will not be long before the bells of school will be ringing for the younger generation.

Some parents have already completed their shopping in preparation for the opening of school while others are just beginning, and time is getting short.

I would like to suggest that our residents try and shop at home for all of their school needs.

Our merchants need and appreciate your business, and it also helps our governmental bodies.

The clerks you meet while shopping at home are often your friends and neighbors, and you help them out, too.

Taylor says Northwest must alter decision

U.S. Rep. Gene Taylor said that it is imperative that Northwest Airlines reconsider or delay a decision to discontinue its DC-9 jet service to and from Gulfport-Biloxi Regional Airport.

In addition to contacting Northwest officials, Taylor contacted Rep. James L. Oberster, chairman of the House Aviation Subcommittee and Rep. William F. Clinger, the ranking minority member of the committee.

Taylor has also been in contact with other members of the state's delegation in the U.S. House of Representatives.

"I expect that a joint letter signed by myself, Chairman Jamie Whitten, Chairman Sonny Montgomery, Rep. Mike Espy and Rep. Mike Parker will be sent to Northwest officials expressing concern with their decision," said Taylor.

"We all agree that Northwest's decision will have a severe impact on South Mississippi business, tourism and efforts to attract new industry."

Taylor also noted that Northwest's jet service to Gulfport is vital to Keesler Air Force Base, the Stennis Space Center, the Naval Construction Battalion in Gulfport, the new Navy Homeport in Pascagoula and Ingalls Shipbuilding.

"I have advised several Northwest officials including Chief Executive Officer Alfred A. Checchi, Director of Government and Contract Sales Robert F. Agnew, and Director of Sales and Marketing Robert L. Fornaro to reconsider or delay Northwest's Sept. 4 pull-out of its jets," said Taylor.

Taylor said that the Gulfport-Biloxi Regional Airport Authority needs 60 to 120 days to effectively conduct a smooth transition. The current status has left Gulfport officials with less than a desirable amount of time to find another carrier willing to fly jets into the airport.

The 30-day gap leaves the airport with little time to bargain with other carriers, because passenger boarding is expected to decline with the discontinuance of jet service.

Frallic, Taylor and Chamber officials warn that if jets discontinue service for any amount of time, the Coast will be dealt a major economic blow.

Congressman Taylor said he will continue to work closely with Northwest, the Subcommittee on Aviation, the Airport Authority and other local officials to find a solution.

FROM THE SENATE

By Senator Trent Lott

Lessons learned

This is the first part of a four-part series focusing on our nation's defense.

The victory achieved by U.S. forces during Operations Desert Shield and Storm proved to the world that the American military machine is unmatched. Deployment, execution and results spoke for themselves.

However, the Persian Gulf War also served as a means to evaluate our military. Shortcomings as small as they may have seemed in view of such rapid and complete success, now must be polished to ensure a sound national defense for the future.

An executive summary from the Navy concluded that the lessons of Operations Desert Shield and Storm could be separated into three categories: areas not tested; old lessons reevaluated; and new lessons learned.

According to the Navy, from these three areas the initial review of lessons learned underscored keys to victory which must be nurtured and reinforced. And, the lessons of war highlighted areas for improvement.

The three areas to be nurtured, reinforced and improved upon also can be separated into three broad categories: mobility of forces; personnel in the field; and weapons technology.

Mobility
The positioning of forces in Saudi Arabia became the largest test of military mobility in U.S. history. During Operations Desert Shield and Storm, the U.S. military moved 3.15 million metric tons of dry cargo, almost 7 million tons of tanker cargo and 543,000 men and women.

Part I of this series will focus on the mobility factor and the importance of swift deployment to suppress an enemy threat.

Personnel

The performance of our men and women, both active duty and reserve, set "new standards of excellence," according to Gen. Norman Schwarzkopf. The recent lessons of war indicated that no matter how well versed the leadership or massive the weapons arsenal, there can be no victory without highly trained troops.

Part III of the series will look at the importance of well-trained soldiers and how military training has become more sophisticated with new weapons and philosophies.

Technology

Technology played an important role in the war. It sent the impact and scenes of war straight into our homes via our television sets. The almost unbelievable effectiveness of "smart weapons" displayed our ability to deliver devastating blows even before a single foot soldier was sent into battle.

Part IV of the series will examine the latest in high tech weapons and explain the crucial value of future technological research and development.

THE PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

From the Mississippi Economic Council

Ethical standards—A foundation of freedom

A decade ago, the Mississippi Economic Council adopted a "Code of Ethics for Mississippi Business and Government."

As the largest association of business, industry and professionals in the state, MEC recognized that preservation of ethics in society is vital to democracy.

Among the pledges made in the MEC Code were:

—To conduct ourselves both personally and professionally in accord with the highest moral standards;

—To be guided in all our activities by the highest standards of truth, fairness and honesty;

—To take no actions that would influence another into unethical conduct;

—To refrain from discriminating unfairly by the dispensing of special favors or privileges, and to refrain from accepting favors or benefits under circumstances which might be construed by reasonable persons as influencing the performance of our duties;

—To treat fairly all fellow citizens, fellow employees and competitors;

—To refrain from using confidential information in the performance of duties as a means for personal gain;

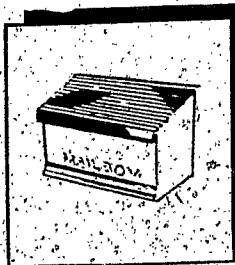

—To present a true and accurate representation of our products so as not to mislead;

—To expose corruption wherever discovered;

—To be ever mindful that public office is a public trust; and,

—To participate in the free election process, both by voting and supporting candidates and issues when such action is deemed to be in the best interest of the community, the state, and the nation.

MEC reaffirmed the Code earlier this year and encourages every candidate for office in this year's elections to remember history teaches that no free society can long survive without an ethical foundation.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Reader resents way Waveland's council meetings are reported

Dear Editor:

As a concerned property owner and resident of Waveland I resent the way our town meetings are being reported and headlined, example: "to see sparks fly."

Yes, the room was filled for the town meeting, but I didn't see anyone there who was not sincerely interested.

We have a new administration, and a lot of changes are being made. We may not agree with everything, but Jesus couldn't please everyone either.

The fact we are turning out in large numbers is encouraging. It shows we really care.

It would be a great help to our area if our own local newspaper could be a little more supportive and a lot more accurate in their reporting.

Former Waveland alderman urges support of mayor

To the Editor:

I am proud to have served two terms as a Waveland alderman with the finest gentlemen and honorable mayor.

I don't know of anyone serving the public who was or ever will be fully acceptable to 100 percent of the constituents. We had very pleasant meetings, but we had some real good arguments, also.

We had telephone calls at all times of the night and on weekends. One does try to serve the public as best one can.

There were very trying times during the planning and construction of the sewer system, and the aldermen and mayor did their utmost to handle it efficiently; yet when we had accomplished it we still were not always acceptable to our constituents. But we never had an attendance at our meetings only there for entertainment.

Mayor Priot has been in for almost one year and has had to put up with more than her share of troubles.

We as citizens of the best city east of the Mississippi should give the mayor our full support and show it by writing a letter of support or by calling her at City Hall, 467-4134, and letting her know.

Gulfport Industrial Softball appreciates coverage in Echo

To the Editor:

I would like to thank The Sea Coast Echo for publishing the results of the Gulfport Industrial Softball League during the recently completed season of play.

The industries which support our league and all of the players who compete in our league take pride in seeing their individual team results listed.

I cannot think of a better morale booster for the players and industries or find a better way to foster internal relationships than by seeing that employees of local industry are acting as a cohesive team unit.

I have received many positive comments from people who sponsor teams, people who play the game and just people who know of the league. The effect of these comments are not restricted to Hancock County but throughout Harrison, Stone and Jackson counties and also into Slidell, La. This is the area from which our teams or players travel to compete in the league.

Our season was recently completed with a team from Hancock County, players who work for the Navy at Stennis Space Center, finishing at the top of the heap for a second consecutive year with a 19-3 record.

The Gulfport area can boast of the next two teams in the standings, Gulfport Fire Department, 17-5, and Coast Engineering & Manufacturing, 16-6. The local area also placed the fourth team in the standings with Alcan Cable Co. finishing with a 15-7 record.

At the completion of the season we had five teams compete in the State Industrial Softball Tournament held in Jackson. All teams which competed played with great sportsmanship and enthusiasm.

The team from Keesler Air Base placed second in this tournament and will be playing in Lakeland, Fla., competing in the Major National Industrial Softball Tournament at the end of August.

Other teams competing were Coast Engineering & Manufacturing, finishing in fifth place; Gulfport Fire Department, ninth place; McDermott & Co., Struthers Industries and Indal Aluminum. All of these teams finished tied for seventeenth position.

For the considerations which were extended to the league by The Sea Coast Echo I would like to take this opportunity to say thank you from the league, the companies which sponsored teams in the league, and from each of the participants who competed in the league.

Toomey vies for District 1 seat

Patrick Toomey

Patrick P. Toomey, 64, recently announced his candidacy for District 1 supervisor.

A native of Hancock County, Toomey resides in Waveland. He attended Waveland Public School, St. Stanislaus Back School and is a graduate of Long Beach High School under the GI Bill. He also attended Perkinson Junior College and Mississippi Officers' Training Academy in Jackson.

A former employee of Mississippi Game and Fish Conservation, Toomey is a retired state game warden for Hancock County. He also served in the Navy special forces in World War II, was a volunteer with the first Waveland Fire Department and has been a hunter and boating safety instructor.

He is a member of the Bayou Cadet VFW, AARP, the Association of Atomic Veterans, and a charter member of American Legion Post 77 in Waveland.

Toomey and his wife Catherine have five children and 11 grandchildren, all Hancock County residents.

He said, "I realize there are many problems and changes that need immediate attention in District 1 and Hancock County."

"I would like to run Hancock County as a business. I would like to combine county agencies to save the taxpayers' money.

"Poor management of county money made it necessary for our property tax to be increased the last 3 1/2 years. I will work very hard to gain insight of a more effective way to use and save the tax money we now receive."

"I will not recommend or hire anyone for a county position or make open a new position in return for political support. I feel this practice needs to come to an end."

"I feel a motor pool for Hancock County vehicles would also save the taxpayers' money. The vehicles would be checked out in the morning and checked back in each evening."

"I would like to have a road grading machine for each district. I would like to have a recreational program set up for the children of Lakeshore, Clermont Harbor and the Bay Side Park area and additional recreational programs in Waveland."

of the children in the farthest reaches of the county are subject to the longest time on the buses simply because of the distance which much be covered.

With the addition of two new school buses and two additional routes the county is hoping to begin student pick-ups on August 19 with more efficiency than in previous years.

Another mother, from the Diamondhead area of the county expressed concern for her ten year-old child, who she heard would be changing buses half way through the route.

"I have two children, one in high school and one in elementary. Will they leave and come home together?"

"I don't understand the need for my ten-year-old to change buses."

Superintendent Terrell Randolph interjected that the practice of gathering students from two areas and then meeting to separate the students by destination was common practice in school district transportation.

Hillman, present for the meeting, added that the routes are all on paper at this time.

He said the bus drivers have been out driving their routes this week in an effort to familiarize themselves with the routes and estimate a time schedule, but until the actual running of the routes, knowledge of their workability is at best a guess.

"We know there will be problems," Randolph told the mothers.

"Last year we had an additional 200 new students and we are expecting as many if not more this year."

He said it would not be until after Labor Day, when students finish last minutes entries, that the district will have an accurate student count.

"The first few weeks there will be changes made as the difficulties are worked out."

Board member and acting president, Lennette Necaise told the mothers that the board understood their concerns and certainly wished to hear from them. She asked that the mothers work with the transportation director for these next few weeks until the schedules are worked out to everyone's satisfaction.

Danzy added, assuring the mothers, "Our goal is to not have any child on the bus longer than necessary."

Toddler recovering after injury

Special to the Echo
By John Webber
Severely injured in a tragic car accident in March, two-year-old Alex Holloman is battling back and making excellent progress at a New Medico rehabilitation center in Slidell.

Strapped into a car seat, Alex, a resident of Pass Christian, was riding in the back of his parents' car March 16 on the way to visit Alex's grandmother, Merle Stieffel Brennan. In the rain, the car skidded out of control, flipped over and smashed into an oncoming vehicle.

Alex's mother, Kimberly Stieffel Holloman, was killed in the crash, and Alex sustained a broken arm, fractured ribs, and a severe brain injury.

Alex was rushed to Gulfport Memorial Hospital and then transferred to Tulane Medical Center in New Orleans. Because an injury to the brain can be complex and affects many different functions, doctors were uncertain whether Alex would survive.

Shelly Goodick, Alex's aunt, says the family prayed for Alex's survival. "We kept praying just don't take him from us."

Goodick credits Dr. Patricia Moynihan, Alex's pediatric surgeon at Tulane, for saving his life. "She was wonderful. He was all but gone, but she made all the right decisions," Goodick said. "To me, she walks on water."

Goodick also believes the car seat Alex was riding in protected him from a fatal injury. "That's probably why he's here today."

During the first few weeks at Tulane, Alex remained unconscious.

"Alex didn't move much," Goodick said. "We didn't know if he could see, hear, or do anything."

Goodick was with Alex constantly, talking to him, playing tapes of his brother and father talking to him, bringing balloons into his room—anything to stimulate Alex and promote his recovery.

In April, when he was transferred to the New Medico Neurologic Rehabilitation Center of the Gulf Coast in Slidell, which specializes in treating children with brain injuries, Alex was conscious but still couldn't move very much, did not recognize his family, and couldn't make any verbal sounds.

Today, Alex is making steady progress. "He's doing fantastic," said his father, Alfred Holloman. "We didn't think he was going to come this far, but he has. He's showing progress every day."

The therapists at New Medico-Gulf Coast designed an intensive rehabilitation program specifically for Alex. A physical therapist works with Alex to improve his balance, coordination and strength; an occupational therapist works with him on daily living skills, such as learning to feed himself, and a speech pathologist helps him develop communication skills.

"The therapists here are wonderful," Holloman said. "They're kind, caring and terrific with Alex."

Alex has progressed to the point where he spends evenings at home with his aunt and returns to the facility every morning for therapy. Alex is starting to speak again; he's relearning how to walk (he can already scoot across the floor on his own); and at times he's able to feed himself.

"He's come a long way," Holloman said.

Merchants honor military during Appreciation Week

BY TRACI BONNEY
ATTENTION ALL MILITARY PERSONNEL:

Do you need a haircut? Some work on your car? Clothes for the kids? A rose for the lady (or guy) in your life?

Would you like to take the family out to dinner at a nice restaurant? Well, take a peek at the list below.

In cooperation with the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce, eighteen local merchants are honoring service people this week by offering discounts on goods and services.

Chamber director Cindy Vernon said that while this Military Appreciation Week was conceived because of the return of the National Guard 1355th from the Persian Gulf, the offers and discounts are available to all military personnel with military i.d. and their families.

Merchants participating in Military Appreciation Week, and the discounts they are offering, include:

Gulfside Assembly slates reunion

United Methodists from Texas, Mississippi and Louisiana will gather August 16 and 17 for their annual reunion at Gulfside Assembly in Waveland.

The event, with a theme of "Coming Home," will feature fellowship, food, study and fun.

Two United Methodist bishops — Ernest T. Dixon Jr., who presides over the San Antonio, Texas, area United Methodist churches, and also chairs the Gulfside board, and W.T. Handy, who presides over all United Methodist churches in Missouri — and attorney Tom Matheny of Hammond, La. (president of the Judicial Council of the United Methodist Church) will attend.

Dr. Alfred Norris, president of Gammon Theological Seminary in Atlanta, Ga., will be the keynote speaker Friday, 7 p.m. at the Harry Hoosier Auditorium.

Charles and Nora Kellogg, the new co-directors of Gulfside, invite all to attend and see the newly renovated campus and participate in the weekend activities.

ST. ANN AND ST. JOHN NEWS

A thought for meditation from our pastor, Father John J. Kelly:

"God has given each of you some special abilities; be sure to use them to help each other, passing on to others God's many kinds of blessings!

— I Peter 4:10 TLB

From the Pastor's Desk:

I encourage all of you to reach out to the lapsed and to those out of the habit of going to Church and also to our young adults and our teens and invite them back home to Church. Please welcome visitors to our area who recreate in camps, parks, hotels and motels and all sorts of places in our area.

Let them know where our churches are located and the times of our Masses. It is manly and ladylike to go to church. Jesus and His Mother Mary are our best examples, and we know from the Bible they went to the Synagogue on a regular basis.

If it was necessary and appropriate for the Son of God to go to Church it is certainly necessary and appropriate for you and me to go to Church. Let our motto in our parish be, "Be a friend and bring a friend to Church."

The family of Dorothy Neu-big would like to thank the friends of St. Ann and St. John's, merchants and individuals who gave so generously of their time, talent and donations for the benefit given for her to help defray medical expenses.

Sincerely,
Dot Neubig

COOKING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire Caire

When the temperature soars and the local budget dips, it's time to resort to that good old hamburger. And, if you're a fan of the classic, it simplifies the problem. After all, as so many of them are aware, a juicy hamburger or beef patty and jelly sandwich is above any gourmet dish, as far as they are aware!

Hamburgers on the menu are a good idea, and if you do it right, you can cook outdoors, and in a picnic style, paper plates, and you're even farther ahead in the cooking game when clean up time comes.

But, your hamburgers need to be cooked the same old way all the time, need they? I bet you'd wish two patties, each with spicy fillings in between, then broil or grill quickly. At other times, I top hamburger patties with chunks or shreds of roquefort or cheddar cheese, or with burgundy wine sauce, or a snappy cheese-chili sauce for a taste of Old Mexico.

An especially tasty version of hamburgers is what Vera Sentilles calls her "Millionaire Meat Patties"—fit to serve to a millionaire, she claims. But, you needn't wait for a millionaire to come to dine; the rest of us will enjoy these hamburgers, too. So, serve:

MILLIONAIRE PATTIES

1 1/2 lbs. ground beef, lean
1/4 cup bacon drippings
2 eggs, beaten
1 cup milk
4 slices bread (or equivalent of French bread)

2 Tbsp. grated Romano or Parmesan cheese
1 Tbsp. minced parsley
2 or 3 finely chopped green onions
1/2 tsp. thyme (dried)
Garlic powder, salt, pepper to your taste

Place the ground beef in a large bowl. Combine the well beaten eggs with the cup of milk, and add the bread (crumbled or broken up well.) Add to the beef mixture, along with the other ingredients, except, of course, the bacon drippings, and mix well together.

If the mixture is too "soupy" or "gunky" you may need to add another half cup or so of the crumbled bread. At any rate, when well mixed, form into "fist-sized" plump patties.

If you're using an electric skillet, heat it to 300 degrees; if using a heavy skillet over the heat, let it get quite hot. Pour in bacon drippings as needed, according to the size of your skillet. Add the patties, and after several minutes, turn and repeat the cooking time, until patties are cooked through.

Turn down the heat, and simmer awhile, until tender and well done, basting as needed, and adding a half cup of water or red wine as needed. Served with noodles or potatoes and a green salad, this makes a swift and succulent meal.

(Note: You may, of course, use a little oil instead of the bacon drippings.)

Road E turn-in to Hancock High School is newly paved

Board member Carol Bustetter asked Randolph when the school district planned to place a high school name sign at the Highway 603 turn in to the Stennis Air Park.

Randolph said a local VFW post had promised to donate the sign to the school, so it was just a matter of waiting until the sign was prepared.

Cheerleader sponsors Kay Lovelace and Barbara Ferguson spoke to the board about several changes they proposed for the cheerleader constitution.

The sponsors asked that the board direct some means of transportation for the cheerleaders to and from "away from home" games.

The board said they were under the impression that the cheerleaders were allowed room in the band bus for non-home games.

Lovelace explained that the band usually arrived at the games "around half-time" which meant the cheerleaders could not be there for the beginning of the game.

Randolph made a note to check with the athletic and booster club directors in order to find a way to transport the

Indoor golf competition

Friday putting tournament will benefit Hancock Chapter American Cancer Society

BY JANET MCQUEEN

Practice your putting skills in the climate-controlled comfort of Diamondhead's Qualidome, while assisting American Cancer Society volunteers in Friday evening's tournament. The indoor tournament is guaranteed to test the skill of the most seasoned golfer, according to chairman Henry Kibler.

The 18 holes (par 48) are equipped with many obstacles, including "water hazard" in the form of an indoor pool. Kibler, who designed the course after the ones in miniature golf, may have outdone himself in creating obstacles (by his own admission).

Two holes are bordered by the swimming pool, while others have picket fence-style obstacles and other obstructions the golfer must shoot over, around or in-between, said Kibler.

The idea of an indoor tournament was offered by Kibler's brother-in-law, Jerry Reshew of Diamondhead, who had seen the event in Annapolis, Md. as a fund-raiser for the Leukemia Society.

Trophies will be awarded to first, second and third place low scorers, as well as team low score. Teams will be assigned as golfers arrive Friday evening, said Kibler.

"A set of wheels" of some description will be offered for a hole-in-one, with Kibler declining to elaborate on exactly what kind. An evening of fun is guaranteed.

A $50 donation to the American Cancer Society includes tournament entry fee and a buffet and beverages. A $10 spectator donation includes the buffet and beverages.

Hors d'oeuvres for the event will be donated by The Reef Restaurant, Court Street Cuisine, Layne's Fried Chicken and Lil' Rays.

Participants are asked to bring their own putters.

Advance registration is available by calling Kibler at 255-7935. Registration will also be accepted Friday night at 6 p.m. at the Qualidome.

Gill netting public hearing set

A public meeting to discuss the future of gill netting in Hancock County is scheduled for Aug. 20 at 7 p.m. in the Hancock County Courthouse in Bay St. Louis.

The meeting will be conducted by the Bureau of Marine Resources, but is the result of a request by the Hancock County Board of Supervisors. The supervisors are asking that gill netting be banned in Hancock County.

This year, legislation, sponsored by Hancock County legislators, was passed allowing boards of supervisors to request changes, by July 31, in ordinances regarding gill netting in their respective counties.

Only the Hancock Board of Supervisors has requested a change in the gill-netting ordinance regarding its county.

Only proposed changes in the gill netting ordinance will be discussed at the meeting.

"For the best resolution of this user conflict it would be beneficial of both the supervisor and the commercial fishermen attend the meeting," said Tom Van Devender, BMR chief of saltwater fisheries.

Alternatives to an outright ban, suggested by Hancock commercial fishermen, also will be explored at the meeting.

After the meeting, the BMR fisheries staff will make a recommendation to the state Commission on Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks for any changes that are necessary.

The present general membership, all parents of athletes and any interested adults are invited and encouraged to attend this evening of food, fellowship and show of support for the Bay High Tigers.

BWYC takes fourth in Jr. Liptons

Sportfishing workshop slated

Mississippi Sea Grant Advisory Services, in conjunction with the Jackson County office of the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service, is sponsoring a recreational fishing workshop Tuesday, August 27, 7 p.m.

The program will be held at the Gautier Convention Center on the campus of the Gulf Coast Community College.

Admission is free but will be limited, so those attending should call and make reservations at 388-4710 or 769-3047.

Top local anglers will share their secrets for catching fish in Mississippi's marine waters. Among the highlights of this year's program will be a presentation by Dr. Jim Coe about Mississippi's artificial reef program and techniques to successfully fish those structures. There will also be a session for near-shore, light-tackle anglers. When, where and how to go after such popular species as speckled trout and redfish will be covered in some detail.

Another session will deal with current regulations regarding size and creel limits for various salt water recreational species in Mississippi and surrounding states as well as federal waters. Because of the current management guidelines affecting several species, many fish must now be released.

A film titled "Pass It On," starring popular saltwater angler Mark Sosin, will be shown. The film, made in conjunction with the National Marine Fisheries Service, illustrates proper techniques for handling and releasing fish which are currently off limits for retention by recreational fishers.

As in past years, area merchants will provide door prizes to workshop participants.

Bay Youth Football Association gets ready for 1991 season

The Bay Youth Football Association will hold team registration Saturdays, Aug. 17, 24 and 31, at the Bay High School multi-purpose room from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Registration fee is $20. Team members will receive their shorts and shirts the day of registration.

The teams are open to players from ages 7 to 12, and will be divided into age divisions: 7-8, 9-10 and 11-12.

The association will also hold its first organizational meeting Monday, Aug. 19, 6:30 p.m., at the multi-purpose room. All parents interested in participating are encouraged to attend.

FISHIN' Y'ALL

By Jim Maness

It's time to go fishin' y'all. I made a trip to that foreign country to the west with two fishin' buddies last Friday. I think they call that foreign country Louisi-cajun-ana.

Well, anyway, I went to Port Sulfur to see how the fishing was on the west side of the Mississippi River. I launched at Hi-Ridge Marina, then took Grand Bayou to the Sulfur Canal.

I fished the end of the Sulfur Canal by the rocks of the old mine.

The other fishing spots that I tried in this area include Bay Lamere, Lake Washington and the surf in the Gulf. The baits we used for specks were chartruse beetles, with and without a float. We used baited shad rigs under a float for reds.

Three of us were able to catch our limit of specks and quite a few reds. What I found most interesting is that we were only able to catch six specks more than 14 inches.

The majority of the specks were between 12 and 13 inches, while the majority of the reds were between 18 and 20 inches. The specks that were bigger than 14 inches were caught in the Gulf of Mexico.

What is really sad is that virtually none of the catch would have been legal here in Mississippi. Something is wrong.

This week I counted 317 people (adults and children) fishing along the seawall and on the piers. I stopped and talked to a whole big bunch of these families and asked them for their most current fish stories.

Almost everyone told me they are catching a few fish. Everyone, with one exception, told me they are not catching any specks 14 inches or over.

In other words, they are not catching any specks they can bring home to eat. I even received reports from several pier fishermen that the Green Men with the flashing blue lights were telling people that they should expect to catch at least 10 or more specks before they will catch one that is of legal size.

The same pier fishing people tell me that you can go any night and see quantities of specks floating dead in the lights by the piers. Something is wrong.

So, let's examine why the minimum size limit is an unmitigated disaster as opposed to a straight creel limit.

Some 40 percent of the specks caught and released die (BMR statistics). This means that almost half of the resource that the law is supposed to protect is being destroyed by that law.

The majority of fishermen cannot afford $25,000 or more for a boat that is large enough to go out to the islands where the "legal size" fish are caught. They feel that they are being discriminated against because they don't have the money to buy a big boat. They are condemned to fish in shallow water and cannot catch a legal size red or speck.

Fishermen are not catching any legal size specks or reds in the surf or in shallow inshore waters.

Contrary to the opinion of some writers and BMR, most people are honest and believe in obeying the law. They stop and go home when they have their limit.

Some very young fishermen have been arrested and brought to jail for undersize fish violations. This is wrong.

Now for the bright side. The start up of the GCCA could make a difference for everyone, especially if they are "for real" in some of the philosophy they propose. It is particularly heartening that this group proposes that outside help, with scientific expertise in areas of marine biology, be brought in to examine the problems that we are encountering.

Good, solid, scientific studies led to the declaring of game fish status for red fish in Louisiana. GCCA helped to collect the data necessary. They then mounted an aggressive campaign on behalf of sportsmen to make the bureaucrats understand that they cannot run over the public will unscathed forever.

This week's wonderful wise words: Diligent research has uncovered that eight out of 10 marine biologists play pool. Eight ball, corner pocket, turtle.

Pier fishermen complain of poor catch, undersize specks

Hancock students attend USM health seminar

Five students from Larry Johnson's class at Hancock High School participated in Health Choice 91. This one-day program, sponsored by the Mississippi State Medical Association and the Mississippi State Medical Association Auxiliary was held on the Hattiesburg campus of the University of Southern Mississippi.

Health Choice 91 was designed to reinforce the positive attitudes toward health-related issues learned as these students participated in the State Department of Education Comprehensive Health Education Pilot Project.

Students had the opportunity to attend group sessions on self-esteem, goal setting, responsibilities of teen pregnancies, steroids and physical fitness, substance abuse, sexually transmitted diseases and AIDS.

Health Choice is an annual project of the Mississippi State Medical Association.

Shrimpers, sea turtles: a losing proposition

By Regina Broadway
MSU Information Service

History, tradition and shrimpers surround the Mississippi Gulf Coast. Endangered sea turtles surround the coastline as well. But new government regulations regarding the turtles and the shrimpers have the two locked in a situation from which neither side can emerge victorious.

A Mississippi Agricultural and Forestry Experiment Station sociologist is finding that an era of shrimping may well become history along the Coast.

Shrimping season opened in June in Mississippi, and an estimated 1,000 shrimpers fish the waters around Biloxi. This past June, sociologist Duane Gill, working with graduate student Chris Campy, began fishing for answers among the shrimpers concerning the use of turtle excluder devices, or TEDs.

The work was completed in conjunction with University of South Alabama anthropologists Chris Dyer and Mark Moberg and sociologist Steve Picou.

TEDs are one of the most controversial aspects of shrimping in the eyes of environmentalists and other fishermen.

From the environmentalists' point of view, TEDs are helping protect the endangered sea turtles from extinction.

From the shrimpers' point of view, TEDs are a government regulation that may force them out of business.

"We wanted to know what impacts TEDs were having on shrimpers so we could develop further studies," said Gill.

Biloxi is an open port, serving shrimp boats from all Gulf states through numerous docks. Campy waited at the docks and conducted personal interviews with the shrimpers he could catch either returning or departing. The sociologists feel their findings are partially reflective of the entire Gulf.

Campy's interviews took place over six weeks between May and June. Of 45 shrimpers, 18 were from Mississippi. Others were from Alabama, Florida, Louisiana and Texas.

A lack of resources to overcome cultural and lingual barriers prevented including any Vietnamese shrimpers, even though they compose about half of the Gulf shrimping fleet.

"We found that the average shrimp boat operator was 42 years of age, had less than a high school education, and was married with children," said Gill. "All operators in the sample were white."

In the sample, the shrimpers had an average 16 years of experience and had operated out of their current home port about 10 years. Most (62 percent) indicated that family influence was the main reason they entered the shrimping business.

About half the total household income of those interviewed came from shrimping. The median self-reported household income was $30,000 and ranged from $7,000 to $260,000. The median income from shrimping was $15,000 and ranged from $10,000 to $100,000.

"The shrimpers still have all their other costs—many of which have risen—in addition to the cost of the TEDs," said Gill.

The mean investment in a shrimp boat was $125,000 and ranged from $16,000 to $350,000. The current market value of the sample boats was less than one-half of the initial boat value or investment. If an operator chose to sell out—even if there were buyers—he would still lose money.

The average trip expenditure was $1,665, and the average yearly trip ran up more than $28,000 per boat—and more than $1.2 million for the entire sample.

Gill found nine out of 10 respondents agreed that humans have a responsibility to conserve natural resources, but the majority (95 percent) felt that government did not understand the environment, and almost two-thirds felt that government regulation of industry to protect the environment had done more harm than good.

Almost 90 percent agreed that there were too many shrimpers in the Gulf and that pollution was a greater threat to sea turtles than was shrimp fishing. Two-thirds said they would have to give up shrimping if they had to continue to use a TED.

Multiple recommendations were given in response to turtle conservation. The most frequent was establishment of sea turtle hatcheries, followed by establishing beach preserves for sea turtles, halting beach development and controlling turtle destruction by those from other countries.

"Some nations regularly harvest turtle eggs and sell canned turtle meat," said Gill.

About half the shrimpers sampled were using a TED, while the remainder were either shrimping inshore or operating illegally in offshore waters. Half the sample reported that TEDs affected the way they shrimped.

"Nine out of 10 respondents indicated that TEDs were dangerous and posed a safety hazard on their boats," Gill said, explaining that the devices weaken shrimp nets, and swing around dangerously when on board. "We sensed that most shrimpers would use TEDs if they believed the devices worked," Gill said.

Gill and Campy's research has hit one of Mississippi's vital economic areas. The state will have to work hard to protect both an endangered species and the tradition of shrimping along the Gulf Coast. The research team will plan follow-up studies as the controversy continues.

Fall registration schedule announced for state's eight public universities

A record number of students is expected to be going into the classrooms of Mississippi's eight public universities in the next few weeks as the fall semester gets underway.

Registration on the eight campuses began as early as Aug. 14 at the University of Southern Mississippi with late registration beginning as late as Friday, Sept. 13 at Alcorn State University.

Mississippi's eight universities have experienced an increase in enrollment over the last five years. As it is predicted that enrollments would fall with the maturing of the "baby boom" generation. "The gradual increase in enrollments over the last five years has, in part, been the result of more non-traditional students returning to the classroom," said W. Ray Cleere, commissioner of higher education. Registration schedules for each of the campuses are:

Alcorn State University, Lorman. Registration: Nursing, Aug. 28; freshmen, Aug. 29; upperclassmen, Aug. 30; classes begin Sept. 3; late registration, Sept. 13.

Delta State University, Cleveland. Registration: All classes, Aug. 26-27; classes begin Aug. 28; late registration, Sept. 5.

Jackson State University, Jackson. Registration: Freshmen, Aug. 22-23; upperclassmen, Aug. 26-28; classes begin Aug. 29; late registration, Sept. 3.

Mississippi State University, Starkville. Registration: All classes, Aug. 19-20; classes begin Aug. 21; late registration, Sept. 4.

Mississippi University for Women, Columbus. Registration: All classes, Aug. 27; classes begin Aug. 29; late registration, Sept. 6.

Mississippi Valley State University, Itta Bena. Registration: All classes, Aug. 23-27; classes begin Aug. 28; late registration, Aug. 28.

University of Mississippi, Oxford. Registration: All classes, Aug. 20-21; classes begin Aug. 22; late registration, Aug. 28.

University of Southern Mississippi, Hattiesburg. Registration by phone: now through Aug. 21; final registration, Aug. 23. Classes begin Aug. 26; late registration, Aug. 26.

Hancock students in D.C.

Congressman Gene Taylor greets Carva Latino, center, and Natalie Abbott during their recent trip to Washington, D.C. as participants in the National Rural Electric Youth Tour. The two Hancock High students were sponsored by Coast Electric Power Association for their winning essay entries.

Coast Electric sponsors trip for two students

Carva Latino and Natalie Abbott, two Hancock High students, represented Coast Electric Power Association recently at the 28th Annual Youth Tour, hosted by the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association.

Latino and Abbott joined approximately 1,300 other students from 38 states representing rural electric systems. They traveled by train to Washington where they spent five days visiting places of historical interest, including the Capital, Washington Monument, Lincoln and Vietnam Memorial, Mount Vernon, Arlington Cemetery, the Smithsonian and an afternoon performance at the Kennedy Arts Center.

A highlight of the trip was meeting Congressman Gene Taylor and visiting with Senator Trent Lott. Both talked about their responsibilities as elected officials and congratulated the students for having been selected as participants of the tour.

"The trip is designed to provide local students an opportunity to visit Washington and witness government in action," commented Robert J. Occhi, manager of Coast Electric Power Association. "These students are among our leaders of the future, and we are committed to helping them become the best they can be."

For information about Coast Electric's youth tour program, contact the Member Services Department at 467-6535.

Mississippi ETV awarded nation's largest grant

Mississippi Educational Television has been awarded a $1.237 million matching grant from the U.S. Department of Commerce, said Mississippi's U.S. Senators Trent Lott and Thad Cochran.

The money will be used to upgrade worn-out transmitters and antennas at WMAE in Booneville, WMAV in Oxford and WMAW in Meridian.

According to Lott, a member of the Senate Commerce, Science and Transportation Committee, Mississippi's grant was the largest sum of money awarded nationally by the U.S. Department of Commerce from its allocation of $19.7 million for public telecommunications facilities programs grants.

In the news

KILLING TIME

By Traci Bonney

Interesting what constitutes "news" these days.

No, I'm not talking about the birdcage liners in the supermarket tabloid sections, or the "magazine" news programs that are mushrooming on television. (Yes, I did say "mushrooming." Some of those shows seem somewhat like fungi to me, since they feed off things that would be better off left in their tombs.)

I'm talking about actual wire reports in respectable newspapers.

Now, I'm not faulting the newspapers. I'm not even saying these things aren't newsworthy. It's just that they're so weird!

In one day, there were in an area paper three stories that had me alternately shaking my head, laughing and wondering what in the bloody blue blazes possessed the people involved to do what they did.

One story involved a scam three men tried in Alabama to first make a certain type of turtle appear to be almost extinct, then obtain a $25,000 grant to replenish the animal's population by releasing the critters from the men's own private stock.

Here's the deal: the men were both making the turtles look almost extinct and obtaining their private stock by buying some of the turtles and capturing others in the wild!

Clever plan, if it had worked.

One of the other two items also involved people taking things—in this case, part of the aluminum roofing from a New York subway station.

The brief didn't explain why the roof was swiped; my guess is that the need for drug money was involved. Still, whatever the reason, it does sound a little odd.

The third news item was what really got me, though. It, too, involved an animal—a cat.

In this little journalistic tidbit, a man was arrested because he killed a cat. Now, he wasn't arrested for killing the cat, but for the incident which caused the feline's demise.

The man was arrested because he used the cat to assault his roommate.

According to the brief, some guy up north somewhere hit his roommate in the face with a cat, killing the cat and injuring the roommate.

Why?!!?!!?!!?!!?!!?

What on God's little green earth could cause somebody to lose it enough to pick up the resident furball and bop someone else in the face with it? And to do it hard enough to kill the furball?

Can anybody out there even pretend to explain that one?

I haven't seen any such interesting news since last week, but that doesn't mean it isn't there.

If you see anything that you think might make good column fodder, send it my way.

Why not? People send stuff to Dave Barry, and he gets lots of columns out of it. I might even mention your name.

Until next week, keep smiling—make people wonder what you're up to.
